SWEEPSTAKES 2012

President's Letter – Rich NN3W

Ladies and Gentlemen, welcome to ~~March~~ November Madness!

In case you've been hiding (as you all should be given that a hurricane is descending on us this very moment), the bands woke up and have been crazy. That's absolutely great news for CQWW; not so much for the U.S. national championship – known as the November Sweepstakes.

As I'm sure you all have heard, PVRC has been on a roll in the past several years – racking up Unlimited Club victory after Unlimited Club victory. 2012 should be no different – but only if folks show up and participate. Unlike CQWW and other contests where the bigger the antennas you have, the better you are likely to do, the same is not true of Sweeps. A single tribander at 30 or 50 feet and a dipole or two can net you 500 to 1000 QSOs.

To prove the point, WA3OFC racked up over 100,000 points in the low power division of the SSB side of Sweeps. Frank lives on a ¼ acre suburban lot near Tysons Corner, Virginia! But Frank still managed to walk away from the event with a #1 score in the Virginia section.

Frank's participation means more than just his personal effort and his score contribution of 100,000 points. Every QSO that Frank makes with other PVRCers means more aggregate score for the Club – a double win.

So, given that the Club has won several hard-fought battles to claim the Unlimited Club title, we simply cannot assume that we're going to automatically win again. A 2012 victory is going to be challenging – especially given that 1) the solar flux being what it is will give greater band access to hams in NCCC and SMC land, 2) the urge to go on "autopilot" tends to kick in after several years of successful runs, and 3) that little thing called Sandy has undoubtedly managed to turn wire antennas and yagis into scrap heaps.

But to counter these challenges, do remember: 1) at all costs, resist the automatic urge to go to 15 and 10 because you hear some loud guys in the EB section (that is unless your rate is so poor that running 15/10 would only increase your rate), 2) a medium effort on SSB and (please) on CW gives causes the club score to increase than participating on one mode alone, and 3) scrap wire can be replaced by even a NVIS dipole on 40 and 80 to give you several hundred contacts.

OK, it's time to go out and clear the gutters. Damned cyclones.....

73 and best of luck OMs!

Sweepstakes Hints and Kinks – K4OV, N4ZE, K5RT, W3IUU

The PVRC 2012 Sweepstakes Strategy presentation is on the PVRC website here. A number of PVRCers sent in some great additional strategy ideas:

Rob K4OV- Here are a couple links that we have on the PVRC-NC web site for anyone to download. Some SSB SS tips that I wrote, and some great stuff by Will AA4NC:

http://pvrnc.org/ka1arb\_ss\_tips.pdf

<http://pvrnc.org/RandomObservingsAA4NC.html>

One of my favorite tips is to use live CQs as much as possible, without using a recorded voice. Being a live “human being,” varying the pace of my CQs, and having a smile in my voice attracts lots of casual people when things slow down Saturday night and Sunday.

Pete N4ZR - If you want to maximize your score, go Unlimited and, on CW, use the RBN. It makes Sunday afternoon a lot more bearable, because you'll be amazed to discover how many stations there are left to work.

This works particularly well if you have a band-agile station, so that you can pounce on a new station on any band easily. If using the RBN, be sure to set your filtering so that you are only seeing spots from RBN stations in your vicinity, with the same propagation that you have. I'm glad to help anyone who asks, and will also post suggestions on the PVRC web page as the CW contest approaches.

Paul K5RT - Some advice for part time entries (most may have probably been submitted)

- 1) Get on for the first 6 hours if at all possible.
- 2) Focus on the high bands, moving lower as each band closes. As each band closes, and you move to the next lower band to keep up the rate, don't forget to make one last pass on the band you left 15-30 minutes after you've QSY'd to check for mults.
- 3) 30 seconds without a QSO is too long! Ask yourself, "what's my 10 minute rate?" Change bands if you have to - or QSY within the band you are on.
- 4) If rate suddenly drops, listen closely to your QRG. There may be someone in your skip zone who is competing with you. Don't waste time fighting with them - move!
- 5) Don't fight to keep a frequency more than 2 minutes.
- 6) As you tune to find a new "Honey Hole", work new stations as you look.
- 7) Work everyone you hear
- 8) If you are part time, work to maximize score for the club. QRO and packet help will be of great value. If you have an amp, and you can only operate part time, turn it on. Be Loud. Or, be louder - it's even better!
- 9) One hour at dawn on Sunday morning on 80 and 40 may yield close-in mults.

10) Operate the last 2 hours if you are part time - you'll be fresh meat.

11) Stay away from 14230-14240. It's not worth fighting with the SSTV guys. Likewise, try to avoid the maritime nets 14.300 etc.

12) Try to choose up with a cross-town rival. Winner buys dinner or a round of beer.

In SS, multi-Ops might be good for training, but generally net score output won't match the same 5 or 6 guys getting on from their own homes (assuming they can).

And the most important rule: Test the station out before SS Saturday! Don't make any changes at the last minute unless it's to fix something. Know your contest software and know your station. Know where your signal is the loudest in the States.

Lloyd W3IUU - I am not out to maximize my score, but to work a lot of stations with a reasonable amount of fun, somewhere between 12 and 20 hours in each contest. For both contests, since you can only work stations once and multipliers are important, I look for multipliers on bands where the skip distance is near optimum. If 10 meters opens to VY1, VE4, etc., I will try and find them on 10 or 15, resisting the temptation to stay on a high band if the rate is not good, and I don't expect to work much by calling CQ on 10 if it is open to a smallish area. I don't do too much running on the first afternoon, and I don't stay up late Saturday night to get a high number. It is more fun to get some rest and come on the bands on Sunday as fresh meat to a lot of stations. For phone, 75 meters, in the Advanced or Extra band segments, is fun; I would rather have a good chance of copying the stations who call me and I don't relish frequency fights. For both modes, I enjoy the fact that my callsign has been on the air for more than 30 years and is in the databases or heads of many of the ops. Due to trends in the solar flux index, I expect the optimal frequencies to be a little lower this year than they were last year.

Membership News – Bud W3LL

PVRC added several new members since the last newsletter. Please welcome:

- Ken KB3YPY, Eric N3UH and Stacey KB3YSR in the Southern Maryland Chapter.
- Adam W4TTY in the Southwest Virginia chapter.

Chapter leaders please remember to complete the Meeting Attendance Report.

MonstIR Killing at WN3R – Dick WN3R

Services were attended by Joe NE3H, Jim W3NRJ, and Tom K3AJ. Thank you for coming.

It was a very sad ending; First injury was the loss of a limb. In the end, the heart was lost and left a big hole in the boom-to-mast plate.

But we have the technology to rebuild her - but sadly, no funds or desire. Please make a contribution to your favorite charity in memory of my MonstIR.

MonstIR Rehab at KC4D – Mark N2QT

Here are some pictures from the KC4D antenna repair project. The top tower section was twisted when a tree hit one set of guys. So the MonstR etc. had to come down.

W4JAM up in the air as the MonstR comes down on August 28.

W4JAM's "good side"...

N2QT, W4GDG, AJ4FM, N4UA, W4EAW4ETO, KC4D (W4JAM is still on the tower)

The Editor's Last Word – John K3TN

Ah, CW Sweepstakes! That was what originally got me interested in contesting. Fun even with a rinky dink station, complex exchange, the possibility of a sweep, lots of strategy choices. And for the PVRicers, the possibility of extending an incredible streak of wins in the Unlimited Club Category. Look for K3TN on CW.

I'm looking for contributions for the December issue – especially pictures. The theme will be station layout – so any good shack ,jpps, send to jpescatore at aol dot com.

Also, welcome to our newest advertiser Cycle 24!
